OLYMPIC THEATRE.

The pantomime of "Humpty Dumpty" which has ith such extraordinary success at this house on its reproduction, still continues to draw large audisuces, notwithstanding the heat of the weather. Sevwal changes have been made in it of late, and many attractive features have been added. The introduction of the Pascal sisters is quite a feature. In their act, piving selections from Lecocq's French comic opera they are exceedingly good, singing and acting with a fash and vim characteristic of their nation. Jolly Nash, one of the best English comic singers, began an ingagement here last night, and met a hearty wellowing on the cornet and French horn were mentionious, and helped to show the versatility of this performer. The pash omittee the single singular the performer to run for a long time.

WOOD'S MUSEUM.

Owing, doubtless, to the somewhat oppressive char acter of the weather, the audience at this establish ment last evening was not so large as usual. The at traction was a sensation drama, in three acts, entitled "Wide Awake," in the course of which Mr. George France and his trained dogs Bruno and Don Clesar die excellent work in the way of rescues and in other situations well calculated to arouse the interest of the as semblage. Mr. E. H. Lay also lent valuable assistance in bringing forth the startling leatures of the play. Miss Louise Sylvester, in the role of Nellie Crosby, awakened much sympathetic beeling, which generally gave way to enthusiasin whenever the pursuing villain was folied and either killed or put to night. The performance seemed to give general satisfaction.

SCIENCE HALL.

What was termed a musical and serio-comic lecture, called "The Jack of all Trades," was delivered before a small audience at the above hall last evening by Mr. James McCarroll. The audience appeared well pleased with the discourse, and the lecturer's solos on the flute heiped to make the entertainment pass off pleasants.

An officer sitting in a box on the second tier drew his sword and endeavored, but in vain, to hurl the burning wreath on the stage. Other persons came to his assist ance, the orchestra stopped playing and the gas was lowered. Still the wreath continued slowly burning After some little time more it was successfully dis lodged, however, and thrown into the pit, where the police took possession of it and carried it oft."

OPENING OF THE BELMONT GALLERY. Yesterday was the first of the four days of this week on which the gallery of Mr. August Belmont, corner of Fifth avenue and Eighteenth street, will be open to the public in aid of the Centennial Loan Exhibition for the Academy of Design and Motropolitan Art Museum. Mr. Beimont has over 100 pictures in his col-lection, and is the happy possessor of a very beautiful example of Rosa Bonheur, "Rendeavous de Chasse," with the spertamen with their horses and dogs gathering around the dying camp fires in the early morning, surrounded by the rising mists and the cold white sunlight of early morning. He has three by Troyon—"The Water Cart," "Cattle Grazing" cold white sunlight of early morning. He has three by Troyon—"The Water Cart," "Cattle Grazing" and "Cattle Drinking;" two by Schreyer—"Wallachian Team" and "The Halting Place," and one by Von Marche—"Landscape with Cattle." These cattle pictures are all large and important works, "The Water Cart," by Troyon, being the only exception in regard to size. The famous "Slave Market," of Gérome and "The Chess Players" of Meussonier, with "T o Twins," one of the best pictures of Boguerreau, the most successful painter of children grow living. "The Storming of Cairo," by Horace Vernet, and "Going to the Dance," by Louis Kraus, are both important pictures, both for their artistic merits and the difficulty of procuring works by these artists, those of Vernet being guarded zealously in France. A small landscape by Rousseau is here, one also by Jules Dupré, and a small figure picture by Paul Delaroche. There are three large scenes by Andreas Achenbach, a landscape by Koek-Koek, a picture containing several figures by F. E. Meyerheim; "Baron Munchausen," quite large, with many figures, by Professor Geyer; "Wounded Voltigeur," by Bellangi; "The Tollets," an interior with three Japanese women, by Firmin Girard; a "Brittany Pensant," by Pierre Billet, and "The Savoyard," by E. Herbert; a Spanish scene by Villegas, a landscape by Meagrigny and one by Daubigny, both small; "Marino Falieri and Angiolina Receiving the Sentence of Stina," a large picture, the figures both life-size, by N. de Keyser; a "Marine," by L. Meyer; "The Ante-Chamber," with cavaliers amusing themselves whire waiting with cock fighting; a sai looking little "Italian Girl," by Bonnat; "Duke of Alva and Vargaa," by Louis Gallait; "The Miser," by Guillemin; "The Wine Tasters," by Shippreck," by M. F. R. De Haas; "The Flock," by Charles Jacque; a small figure by Ed. SCRIVER'S DEFALCATION.

THE DEFAULTER'S FRIENDS TRYING TO OBTAIN BAIL FOR HIM.

Henry Scriver, the late assistant cashier of the Methodist Book Concern, whose defaication has been noticed, was in Ludlow Street Jail yesterday. Negotiations are pending between his friends and the Concern whereby the latter expect to recover a large part, if not the whole sum stolen by him, which was exproperty of the Concern, but were kept for private persons in its sale as a matter of accommodation, they could be readily abstracted by this man, who had access to the safe and its contents, without being discovered. During the last year of the administration of Carlton and Porter as agents Henry Seriver was taken into the Concern in a subordinate position. He had, therefore, been five years in the office when the present agents took possession—four of them under the argus eyes of Dr. Lauahan. His good character was deemed by his employers better than any bond that they could have received with him, and no suspicion of dishonesty rested upon him until the story of his transactions were brought to the ears of the agents, Messrs. Nelson & Philips, by a ministerial friend of whom Scriver had sked advice. The boads he took from time to time, as he needed them, speculated with them through brokers in Wall street and lost them. They were interest bearing bonds, issued by the Book Concern, on which it received loans a few years ago to pay for the the mission house on Broadway and Eleventh street, in which its business is carried on. They were chiefly of the denomination of $1,000 cach. A call having been made for some of them, that the half-yearly interest might be paid thereon, Scriver answered the call by stealing cash amounting to $4,000 from the drawer. Very little money is kept on hand, but the agents had a larger amount than usual at this time to pay interest due and becoming due. The way he managed to cover up this theft was as follows:—Every day the books were footed up by the cashier and his assistant, Scriver. One day the cashier, Mr. Denham, who has been there twenty years, and in whom the General Conference has such confidence that it elected him, though not a member of its body, to one of its most important offices, called off the book accounts and Mr. Scriver counted the cash. The next day Scriver took the books and Mr. Denham the cash and thus from day to day they changed. Scriver knowing how much he had stolen always made his books show that much less when he footed up, and the cash account that much ess when he footed up, and the cash account that much ess when he footed up, and the cash account that much ess when he footed up, and the cash account that much ess when he footed up, and the cash account that much ess when he footed up, and the cash account has made out the tensities was doubly deceived by him and could hardly have discovered the thet unless he had taken the footing up of the cash and book account altogether upon himself. But the nine years' good character of Scriver counted, of course, very largely in his favor and disagramed suspiction. It has been ascertained, howhardly have discovered the their unless he had taken the footing up of the cash and book account altogether upon himself. But the nine years' good character of Seriver counted, of course, very largely in his tavor and disarmed suspicion. It has been ascertained, however, that his cash theft had been made only a few days before his arress. When it became known to the agents he was dismissed on the spot and placed under arrest. But as he wished not to be sent to jail on Wednesday night, but to be allowed to see some friends who would go bail for him or replace the bonds and money stolen, Messra Nelson and Phillips went bail for Seriver to the Sheriff on the day of his arrest and he was kept a prisoner in Dr. Nelson's house. But his efforts to obtain friendly assistance tailed and he went to jail next day. His friends, as stated before, are trying to obtain bail and to replace the stolen property, and until something definite in the stolen as severe blow to trial. His unfaithfuness has been a severe blow to trial. His unfaithfuness has been a severe blow to trial. His unfaithfuness has been a severe blow to trial. His unfaithfuness has been a severe blow to the Concern, so that the grants shall have something more than good moral character to trust to in their property. They do not, how

A TURKISH "HATT."

THE TEXT OF THE PROCLAMATION OF SULTAN MOURAD V.

The following "Hatt," or proclamation, was solemnly read on the 1st inst. at Constantinopie in the presence of all the high officials of state and a vast concourse of citizens, and subsequently published in the official

Having been called, by the grace of the All High King of Kings and the unanimous desire of our subjects, to occupy the throne of our revered ancestors, seeing your recognized experience and your patriot-ism, we have confirmed you in your functions as Grand Vizier, as well as all our Ministers, officials and em-ployes of our government. As is publicly known, for ome time past difficulties have arisen in our external and internal allairs, which to a certain degree have disturbed public confidence and threatened the Empire with ruin, and consequenly it was of the first imwith rain, and consequently it was of the first importance to remedy this state of things and restoral peace and confidence among the subjects of the Empire by the selection of a system capable of renewing public prespericy and happiness. To replace the administration upon a real, solid basis is the first great object of our solicitude; that the prescriptions of the "cheriat" may be observed; that the general administration of our kingdom may be confided in a stable manner to cutzens according to their capacity; that the Ministers may be authorized to discuss and to decide upon what principles and bases complete liberty may be dealt out to my subjects without exception, progress of all kinds, concord in the mind and the safety of the country, of the Empire and the nation. In order to fulfil these intentions we have considered it useful to recryanize the State Council, Ministeres of justice, public instruction, finance, &c. As the Bureau of Finance is one of the most essential of the governmental branches, it will be especially necessary to scrutinize every measure with reference to it, and to introduce every possible guarantee as to order and security; that is to say, that there shall be no expense whatever that is not authorized by the budget. In this view a severe control should be established, so that this department may command public confidence, In order to lacilitate the execution of these measures, and to lessen the present drain upon the Treasury, we have decided to relinquish the usual 300,000 Turkish pounds, to pay taxes from the resources of our private treasury. From the revenues of the coal mines of

Erabecise and others, from the manufactories forming part of our domain, with the hope of being able in this way, in connection with certain reductions in expenses, to obtain the equilibrium in the financial balance of

to obtain the square the empire.

Our firmest desire is that all treaties concluded with friendly Powers be scrupulously observed, as in the past, and that the amicable and sincere relations which bind us to them may be confirmed and reassured.

May the Almighty deign to bless you all. Amon.

JAMAICA RUFFIANS CHASTISED.

The village and town of Jamaica have for a long time been afflicted with a considerable number of young roughs. The class has been growing more and munity with which they have committed minor o', fences against the law-acts of rowdylsm and outrage upon the private rights of proporty owners and others, and deeds or violence and petty theft. About half past seven o'clock P. M. Colonel Aaron A. De Grauw, President of the village, with a party of friends, was sitting on the front steps of his house on the Jamnica turnpike, when, just in front of the house, two young women were indecently assaulted by two of these roughs, whose names were afterward ascertained to be Henry Barnes and Finley Knight. The Colonel remonstrated with them, and they returned impudent and defiant answers, asking, "What is it your business?" The Colonel, with the remark, "Pil show you," went to the assistance of the young women, and proceeded to arrest the two fellows with the purpose of making a complaint against them. As they resisted his authority he struck out from the shoulder and knocked one of them down. The other struck the Colonel with a cane, and finally drew a knife and threatened his life. This one, Henry Barnes, was subsequently arrested by Officer Hamer and lodged in the Town Hall cells. The other, Knight, was on his way to the cells in charge of the Colonel and his friends when a rescue was attempted by two of his brothers, Robert J. and Fremont Knight, and Michael Welsh. The whole party, however, were quickly captured, and the five were securely lodged in the cells for the night. Yesterday morning they were arraigned before Justice Bennett, when Colonel De Grauw made a complaint against Barnes for assault with intent to kill. Finley Knight was held for the indecent assault and resistance and Welsh and the other two Knights for the attempted rescue and riotous proceedings. Several of them presented evidences of rough treatment on the part of the Colonel and his friends, who are evidently "heavy bitters." The examination was adjourned until last evening to give the prisoners an opportunity to procure the attendance of witnesses. when, just in front of the house, two young women

BROOKLYN COMMON COUNCIL.

SOLOMON-THE STORAGE RESERVOIR. At the regular session of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, held yesterday afternoon, President French in the chair, a resolution was adopted by the Board, inviting the principal city officials to witness the breaking of ground for the new municipal building, at cieven o'clock to-morrow, Wednesday morning. The tion of William Mayo Little, late Registrar of Arrears, relative to Henry A. Solomon, his defaulting cashier, reported that they had examined wisnesses and books connected with that office. They found Solomon, as cashier had the full confidence of the Registrar, and that there was nothing to excite suspicion that Solomon was dishonest in the performance of his duties. The committee find that the system of keeping accounts was such as to develop of itself any fraud or dishonestry on the part of the cashier in his official duties. The amount taken by Solomon was $1,325 58. The committee falled to find any lack of diligence on the part of the late Registrar of Arrears in the transaction of his official duties. A resolution was therefore adopted exonerating William Mayo Little from all responsibility in the matter.

The Joint Committee on Low Water and Drainage, who had under discussion the resolution proposing to appeal from the decision of Judge Neilson referring the suit of the Storage Reservoir contractors, Messra, Kingsley & Kenney, to a commission of reference, reported that the Corporation Counsel and John E. Parsons were willing to proceed to trial of the suit. The resolution to appeal from the decision of the Court was therefore rescinded. reported that they had examined witnesses and books

HOW TO PRESERVE MOUNT VER-NON.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:-

I read in the HERALD of Saturday, June 3, an account of the Emperor of Brazil's visit to Mount Ver-non and the neglected condition in which the tomb is kept, also the feeling which he and the Empress displayed in placing bouquets on the tomb. Now I consider it a disgrace to the nation to neglect it so. If the patriotic spirit is suffered to decline in this manner it will not be long cre America will entirely forget ner it will not be long ere America will entirely forget him who should live in the memory of his countrymen iorever. To the women of America belongs the honor of having secured Mount Vernon from total destruction; be it theirs also to raise a fund sufficient to keep it in order. Now, if every lady in America would contribute one dime a sum could soon be raised, the interest of which would be sufficient for this purpose. Knowing that the Hersale is generally successful in such undertakings, I thought that perhaps you might see fit to agitate the matter. Surely it is an object worthy or this centennial year, and which, if accomplished, will no longer cause the holes of American to blush for American ingratitude. If a subscription is started I will contribute myself and endeavor to get my friends to do the same. get my friends to do the same.
